3. Chair's Remarks

New Building

The Chair announced that a kick-off meeting with the architects for the new Engineering and Computer Science building has been scheduled for May 24. Ground breaking may begin in January. It is hoped that the City of Montreal, at its meeting on June 5, will grant approval for the demolition of the York Theatre. Demolition will be carried out in summer. Between summer and January 2001, the interior design details of the new building will be worked out. For this purpose has been set up the Building Executive Committee (N. Esmail, J.C. Giguère, C. Paradisis), the Faculty Building Committee (N. Esmail, J.C. Giguère, C. Paradisis, R. Bhat, O. Moselhi, T. Radhakrishnan), the Building Staff Committee (N. Esmail, J.C. Giguère, C. Paradisis, J. Elliott, P.

Gill, H.Kovalcik). The Department Building Committee will report to the Faculty Building Committee. The Building Executive Committee will be in touch with the architects.

It was particularly noted that flexibility was being sought in the new building design. A concept for dry, computer-type labs (approximately 40 square metres) is being envisaged. Some of these could become graduate student offices. A similar concept will be used for faculty offices, that is, the graduate student research space will be in the same location as the faculty member's office where work on computers is being done. This concept will be reflected across the Faculty. Also being investigated is the concept of having modules (50-60 square metres) in "wet" labs, which will be located on the upper floors. This is the general approach being adopted.

Faculty Awards

The first Faculty Awards Reception was held on May 16. Eleven faculty members received research awards, professional awards and fellowships. A general registry of awards and fellowships in the Faculty will be established. The data will also be available on the net.

New Faculty Appointments

Out of 16 offers, 7 appointments are in Computer Science, 7 in Electrical Engineering and 2 in Mechanical Engineering. This far, twelve appointments have been confirmed, 4 are outstanding. The new appointees are from McGill, Université de Montréal, University of Saskatchewan; 4 are from the U.S.

FRDP Program

The FRDP Program is being altered. There will no more be competitions for new faculty members. Funding for the new hires will be given to the Faculty.

The Chair announced that a bridge funding competition is currently underway. Faculty members having difficulty with receiving NSERC funding were advised to apply as a means to reestablish their position with NSERC. Dean Bedard's office is to be contacted in this respect.

Admissions

By May 15, 2000, the Faculty had received 2363 applications (first choice). On May 15, 2001, 2893 applications were received – an 18% increase.

Budget

Financing for Engineering students will be higher vis-à-vis Computer Science students. The differential will have to be borne in mind in the Faculty's policy. Nonetheless, an increase in funding is expected.

Other Issues

The Chair remarked that a delegation from King Fahd University of Saudi Arabia is arriving on May 29 for recruiting purposes.

A revised document was circulated.

Dr. Moselhi presented the two slot courses in Computer Science, namely, COMP A6901 – Bioinformatics Databases and Systems, and COMP B6901 – Bioinformatics Algorithms.

It was pointed out that the course numbers be changed to match the new 4-digit numbering system, i.e. change COMP A6901 to COMP A691 and COMP B6901 to COMP B691.

Motion That the above slot courses be approved, changes included (O. Moselhi, T. Radhakrishnan)
